

The Military Child Education Coalition (MCEC)

Main MCEC website: www.militarychild.org

There is a list of resources that can be found under the "Professional" tab, accessing the link to the "library" at <http://www.militarychild.org/library> . (Note: there is a publication titled: Handbook for Garrison Commanders and a reference for School Superintendents at <http://www.militarychild.org/library#sthash.Kvg2rKsb.dpuf>) that may be particularly helpful. Other resources reference charter schools and military children. The "professional/library" tab is the best starting point.

Under the Parent/Student resource tab, there are a number of additional resources, to include videos. Some are listed below. Some videos are duplicates which are also found under the professional/library tab mentioned above.

Peggie Watson – Aunt Peggie- is an expert researcher for the MCEC and serves as a trusted resource for families and educators around the world. She is a former military-connected child who attended nine schools by grade 12. Her 34 years of experience in school administration and the classroom have made her a fountain of information on all things related to military and education. She has answered thousands of emails over the years. <http://www.militarychild.org/ask-aunt-peggie#sthash.swQe3OT3.dpuf><http://www.militarychild.org/ask-aunt-peggie>
