Special (Nondegree) Status. In some cases, a student may wish to take course(s) prior to being admitted in a degree program. In these cases, a person must be admitted as a nondegree student. No more than nine credit hours earned as a nondegree student may be applied toward an advanced degree. However, successful completion of any hours taken as a nondegree student does not guarantee admission into the program. Nondegree students are not eligible for financial assistance. A faculty advisor is not assigned to nondegree students.

Financial Aid. Questions about financial assistance should be directed to the Office of Student Financial Assistance, 104 Fairchild Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506, 785-532-6420, finaid@k-state.edu. For information regarding financial aid, you may go to www.k-state.edu/sfa.

This category deals with theoretical, practical, and research-based issues associated with the creation of an environment for effective teaching and learning. The following topics are representative of the issues that might affect the creation of the learning environment:

- Teaching strategies (e.g., direct instruction, cooperative learning)
- Learning theory (e.g., sociocultural theory, schema theory)
- Theory and research into practice
- Instructional planning and design
- Assessment
- Learning environments (organization, management, discipline)
- Standards and practices

One course in teaching and learning may address only one of these issues; one course is not intended to provide a survey of all possible issues that affect the creation of a learning environment.

Recommended courses for this core category:
EDCEP 715 Principles of Assessment
EDCI 720 ESL/Dual Language Methods
EDCI 831 Contemporary Issues in Teaching and Learning
EDCI 862 Instructional Systems Design
EDCI 882 Teaching and Learning Models

Student diversity may be due to factors such as: ethnicity, race, socioeconomic status, gender, exceptionalities, language, religion, sexual orientation, or geographical areas. One course in diversity may address several of these issues; but one course is not intended to provide a survey of all possible issues that address the nature of learner differences, the instructional implications of these differences, and the nature of the institution of schooling and biases that may exist.

Recommended courses for this core category:

EDCI 755 Multicultural Issues in Teaching
EDCI 812 History of Education
EDCI 813 Comparative Philosophies of Education
EDCI 864 Social/Cultural Issues in Educational Technology

Research is a specific form of scholarship.
This category addresses:
- The many forms of scholarship
- Scientific and naturalistic research
- Analysis, interpretation, and application of research and scholarship to improve teaching and learning
- Designing and conducting research and scholarship
- How research relates to practice
It is intended that one course in research and scholarship would address the broad range of these issues. Students must complete the research course before starting the master’s degree project, report, or thesis (see category F).

Recommended courses for this core category:
EDCI 760 Action Research in Education
EDCEP 816 Research Methods in Education

F. Project, Report, or Thesis (1 - 6 hours)
Students must complete a research course in Category E before starting this project, report, or thesis. The results of the project, report, or thesis are to be reported to the student’s supervisory committee in the oral exam in the last semester of the degree program.

Project (1 hour)
The master’s project is conducted under EDCI 890 (Master’s Project).
The objective of the project is to provide documentation of the improvement of the student’s teaching and his/her impact on student learning as a result of the master’s program. Students select a theme pertinent to their own practice. This includes the construction of a professional portfolio to represent the student’s learning throughout the master’s degree program. The Curriculum and Instruction Master’s Program Completion Portfolio outline can be found on the College of Education website under the Academics > Graduate Degree Programs menu.

Report (2 hours)

The master’s report is conducted under EDCI 898 (Master’s Report).

A master’s report is generally shorter than a thesis, and it may present the results of a more limited research investigation. Alternatively, it may review the state of a particular scholarly or scientific problem, or it may describe a project appropriate to the disciplines.

Thesis (6 hours)

The master’s thesis is conducted under EDCI 899 (Master’s Thesis).

The master’s thesis presents the results of an original investigation of a problem or topic approved by the candidate’s supervisory committee. Its purpose is to demonstrate the candidate’s ability to conduct original research of a type appropriate to the academic discipline, to analyze the information obtained from the research, and to present the results in a form acceptable to the supervisory committee.
