

Educational Studies

The Bachelor of Science Degree in Educational Studies prepares candidates to participate in shaping and making educational policy, working with youth in non-school settings, preparing for international teaching, or participating in the entrepreneurial realm.

Candidates take coursework to understand today's students as well as the current and future state of education. The focus and electives to the program will allow students to personalize their program to meet their goals.

The formal internship/capstone experience will be structured specifically for each student, based on their career needs. It will include, but not be limited to, experiences in community, government, public policy, non-profit, outdoor education, classroom settings, social justice or pastoral programs. These real-life experiences will be offered during the final semester, combining classroom academics and field experience.
